DETAILED ACTION

1. The Amendment filed on 01/09/2007 has been received and fully considered.
2. Claim 2 is cancelled and now claims 1,3-9 are presented for examination.
3. Regarding the rejection under 35 USC 101, the examiner maintains the rejection as the Applicant fails to overcome the rejection (see further clarification in the rejection below).
4. As per the rejection under 35 USC 112, the examiner maintains the rejection as the Applicant fails to overcome the rejection (see further clarification in the rejection below).
5. Regarding the rejection under 35 USC 103, the Examiner withdraws the rejection in view of the amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

6. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

The claimed invention as a whole must accomplish a practical application. That is, it must produce a "useful, concrete and tangible result." State Street, 149 F.3d at 1373, 47USPQ2d at 1601-02. The purpose of this requirement is to limit patent protection to inventions that possess a certain level of "real world" value, as opposed to subject matter that represents nothing more than an idea or concept, or is simply a starting point for future investigation or research (Brenner v. Manson, 383 U.S. 519, 528-36, 148 USPQ 689, 693-96); In re Ziegler, 992, F.2d 1197, 1200-03, 26 USPQ2d 1600, 1603-06 (Fed. Cir. 1993)). Accordingly, a complete disclosure should contain some indication of the practical application for the claimed invention, i.e., why the applicant believes the claimed invention is useful. However, the mere fact that the claim may satisfy the utility requirement of 35 U.S.C. 101 does not mean that a useful result is achieved under the practical application requirement. The claimed invention as a whole must produce a "useful, concrete and tangible" result to have a practical application.

6.1 Claims 1, 3-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. While the claims show a plurality of mathematical steps/calculations, the claims, as set forth, do not provide the end results of having these calculations performed (. i.e. a tangible result). See MPEP 2106 [R2].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

7. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

7.1 Claims 1, 3-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. While the Applicant claims a simulator for chemical mechanical polish process, the claims, as set forth does not show how the claims can function as a simulator. Furthermore, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention and that the claims recite "said simulator comprising:" various forms of data and recite various calculation parts; however, there is no indication in the claims whether or not these parts can perform as a simulator.

Conclusion

8. Claims 1, 3-9 are rejected and THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
